

THE SOUTH KENTUCKIAN.

CHAS. M. MEACHAM, EDITOR.

HOPKINSVILLE, NOV. 1, 1881.

Mr. T. G. Bosley has purchased a half interest in the Bowling Green Gazette and will become associate editor of the paper.

Mr. A. S. Trude, a well known criminal lawyer of Chicago, has agreed to assist brother-in-law Scoville in the defense of Guiteau. The trial will begin November 14.

Frank Hutton editor of the Burlington Hawkeye, of the U. S. G. species, has been appointed by the President to succeed Tynes as First Assistant Postmaster General.

The Elizabethtown News calls attention to the fact that in sixteen years of Republican rule there have been two Presidents assassinated, one impeached for partisan purposes and another installed by fraud. What a record for the great "God and morality" party!

Chief Clerk Shober, who is a Democrat, was appointed acting Secretary of the Senate on motion of Senator Edmunds, and the election of a regular Secretary was postponed till the regular session in December. This indicates that the compromise Mahone candidate, who was nominated by the Republican caucus, is likely to get left.

Assistant Postmaster General Tynes has been removed from office because of his attitude towards the star route swindlers. It is claimed that he knew of the criminal proceedings and neglected to tell about them. Tynes is out in a card saying that he made a report, calling attention to the swindling, and gave it to P. M. G. Key and that it was never heard of again. It is understood that P. M. G. James procured Tynes' removal. He refused to remain in the Cabinet unless he was removed.

The Republican candidates for Speaker of the next House are already beginning to arrive in Washington to begin button-holing and log-rolling for the nomination. Hancock, of New York, Kasson, of Iowa and Keifer, of Ohio are the leading aspirants. They are all there and several others also. The fight will be a close one, even after the party nominations are made. The Republicans have only one or two majority until after the body is organized and new members are sworn in. If the Democrats should gain a member in New York there would be a tie, even after organization, if the Greenbackers should unite with the Democrats in opposition to the Republicans.

Prof. Jno. M. Klein, the Kentucky astronomer, claims to have discovered eleven new comets in a bunch. He says there is a large double comet with nine smaller ones clustering around it and that all are moving together in one orbit. Prof. Klein has heretofore been correct in his cometary observations and if this latest discovery is verified it will not only pay him the handsome sum of $2200 in prizes, but will make his fame as an astronomer world-wide. Prof. Klein lives at Hartford, Ky., and was the discoverer of the largest and most brilliant one of the comets that have already appeared this year.

The brutal dog fight which took place in Louisville a few days since was in violation of the laws of the State and the parties who brought it about should be punished to the extent of the law. The Louisville dog acknowledged himself whipped by the New York dog in forty minutes and the poor brute with two legs broken and his breast, neck and head lacerated jumped out of the pit and tried to get away. He was brought back however and the other dog permitted to chew on and drag him around till life was extinct. The whole transaction was a disgrace to Louisville. The dogs were matched for $1,000 a side.

Hon. Louis Alfred Wiltz, Governor of Louisiana, died at New Orleans, Oct. 17, of consumption, in the 38th year of his age. He was a member of a prominent Creole family and had reached an eminence few men attain at so early an age. At 18 he entered the Confederate army. He was elected Mayor of New Orleans in 1872. He was Speaker of the House of Representatives when that body was dispersed at the point of the bayonet some years ago. He was elected Lieutenant Governor in 1876 and was elected Governor in 1879. He had been an active politician of fair ability and great energy for many years.

The Yorktown celebration was the big event of the year. On the 19th of October 1781, Lord Cornwallis' surrender virtually ended the war of the Revolution. The celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the surrender was also the time set to lay the corner stone of the elegant monument to be erected to commemorate the event. President Arthur, Gen. Hancock and many other distinguished characters were present. The President made a short and appropriate speech upon being presented by Secretary Blaine. Nearly all of the states had troops in attendance and the review of the consolidated companies was truly magnificent. Kentucky was truly represented, by four companies of State guards. Gov. Blackburn attended and rode at the head of the Kentucky troops in the procession. At the conclusion of the ceremonies a complimentary salute was fired to the British flag.

The Senate.

The time of the Senate was occupied last week in confirming nominations for minor offices. The President made but a few important nominations. Ex-Gov. Edwin D. Morgan, of New York, was nominated and promptly confirmed by the Senate as Secretary of the Treasury. He, however, declined and Judge Chas. J. Folger was appointed and confirmed. Judge Folger is also from New York and it is understood that he will be shortly elevated to the Supreme Bench, when Conkling will take the Treasury portfolio. Postmaster General Thos. L. James was also nominated and will hold over in his office for the present at least. All of the other members of the Cabinet will be retained except the Attorney General, who is anxious to be relieved. His successor will most likely not be appointed till December. If McVeigh refuses to continue longer in the office a temporary appointment will be made.

Woman's Suffrage Convention.

The annual convention of the female suffragists was held in Louisville last week. It was the first convention of the kind ever held South of the Ohio river. It was attended by many of the most prominent female politicians and lecturers of the country. They continued in session several days and resolved as usual upon the subject of woman's rights. They reported progress in their work and hoped to see the time soon that they could vote like men. The Louisville papers gave extended notices of the convention and the Courier-Journal mentioned each of the distinguished delegates separately, giving a short sketch of her life and record as a woman's rights worker. They organized a party to be called the Kentucky Woman's Association. Miss Laura Clay, a daughter of Gen. Cassius M. Clay was elected President.

Influential Republicans in this county concede that the next nominee of their party for Jailer of Christian county will be a colored man. There are several sable statesmen who are ready to serve their county in that capacity and they will not be put off again, as they were three years ago. The time has come when the Republicans of Christian county will have to divide the leaves and fishes of office with their colored brethren, or they will be unable to keep them in their ranks. The blacks are fast finding out that the Republicans love them only for their votes, and that the Democrats are their best friends. Six hundred colored men voted the Democratic ticket last August and unless the Republicans make good their promises and give the jailer's nomination to one of their race, there is going to be trouble in the camp and don't forget it.

The "Warren Memorial Church," belonging to the Northern Presbyterian church, and the finest church building in Louisville, was destroyed by fire last Friday night. The building was erected at a cost of more than $100,000 and was finished in 1878. It was on Broadway and was built after the style of the famous Brooklyn Tabernacle. Mr. L. L. Warren contributed $40,000 to the building fund and the church was called after his name. It was insured for $50,000, but the origin of the fire is a mystery as there had been no fire in it for five days. The officers of the church have decided to rebuild immediately.

At the sham battle at Yorktown the other day, the Massachusetts troops refused to meet the Kentucky boys and made affidavit to the effect that they were afraid the Kentuckians would slip in loaded cartridges, on account of the "antipathy existing between Kentucky and Massachusetts." Such cowardice as this, exhibited upon such a silly pretext, could only be found among "down east Yankees," whom Massachusetts ought to be ashamed to own.

As an example of the rapid work done at the Atlanta exposition, two suits of clothes were made from seed cotton picked at 7 o'clock in the morning and finished in time for Gov. Colquhoun and Bigelow to wear them at a reception in the evening of the same day. The cloth was woven and the clothes cut and made in the exposition building in the course of a few hours.

The Senate adjourned Saturday after laying Mahone's candidate for the Lynchburg Post-mastership on the shelf. The dead-lock which had lasted two days, was broken by a motion from Senator Ferry. A number of nominations were then confirmed and a speedy adjournment followed.

The monopolists are preparing to have the tax on quinine restored at the next session of Congress. "Quinine Jim" will be on hand to cover himself with additional glory, by defending the bill he had passed, reducing the tax nearly one half.

The Legislature of Georgia has made it a crime to point an "unloaded" pistol at a person even in fun. It is astonishing how many people go to heaven by the "unloaded pistol" route. The law is a good one.

NONSENSE.

Most of the hunters, who march forth to kill and cripple, succeed in killing time.

Marriageable young people are informed that cold weather is approaching. A hint to the sufficient is wise, etc.

Zeno Young says "saccharine futurity" is the latest for the "sweet bye and bye." "Dulcet subsequence" is another way of putting it.

Young gentlemen who escort their girls to public entertainments, should be careful to brush the chalk off their left shoulders before entering.

Blinkins, having heard that Forepaugh's beauty had sued the L. & N. railroad for scratching her leg, remarked, that he supposed it was a legal transaction.

From the way Mr. Thomas of the Muhlenberg Echo lets himself out last week, we should judge that his name is accented on the last syllable.

The Georgetown Times says Rev. Jas. M. Wells, of that town has embarked in the fire insurance business. His little would indicate that his business also applies to the world to come.

"Myope" is the scientific word meaning a short-sighted person. Then, if we may be permitted to coin a word, persons who rush headlong into matrimony, these hard times, are "myopened." P. S. after marriage the m is changed to a.

It is quite probable that we will go to Louisville to take charge of the Willard Hotel, after the Lottery Nov. 10, as we hold the winning ticket. We hope our friends will feel perfectly free to call and visit us when they are in the city.

The editor of the Clarksville Chronicle wants some of his country subscribers to bring him in a "fat possum" to make his "heart glad." Why doesn't he call things by their right names, and ask for a corpulent marsupial quadruped of the didelphys genus and Virginiana species?

It costs a man six dollars a year to exercise the right of suffrage in this part of our glorious commonwealth. The women who are so anxious to vote should reflect a moment; this amount would be enough to keep them in snuff, chewing gum and cosmetics.

The editor of the Crittenden Press is calling the editor of the Muhlenberg Echo names. He called him an "erudite poet" last week and the embryo Shakespeare, Moore and Byron in one, felt almost as good as he did when he received his diploma as a college graduate.

How to Walk with a Lady.

It is not every young man who knows how to walk with a lady. It used to be the style for a gentleman to crook up his left arm till it formed an acute angle and then let the lady pass under his hand half way into the angle. Of course there was no support for the lady in this, and improvements were soon made in the style of promenading. The lady gradually began to take a firmer hold upon the gentleman's arm, until it finally became the fashion for her to lock both hands through his arm and draw up closely and confidently to his side. This was considered a big improvement, but still the style was not perfect. A few years since the order of things was reversed and it became fashionable for the gentleman to take the lady's arm. He would place his left arm under the lady's right and take hold of her wrist. This was found to be a much better way to support the lady in walking, as it made it impossible for her to slip and fall. For the last three or four years this style has been practiced in fashionable society, though there are still a few young ladies who prefer the old way. The number, however, is getting smaller each year, as few young ladies are unwilling to adopt the latest style in everything. As popular as this walk has become, still another improvement has been announced for the coming season. The gentleman places his left arm under the lady's right, extends it along to her hand and takes her right hand in his left. This is the style for the winter, and is quite an improvement, as the lady's hand can thus be kept perfectly comfortable even in the coldest weather. Young ladies are also expected to wear veils to keep the chalk on their faces from getting on the young gentleman's shoulders.

It is amusing to see some of the amateurs trying to walk this new style. Some of them take hold of the lady's arm above the elbow and hold on with a death grip, while others "hook elbows" and let their hands dangle over, while their coat sleeves work up half way to the elbow. We publish these directions and explanations for the benefit of those who have not learned the "latest agony." Of course the young people can use their own pleasure about adopting this new and improved style, but we think they will find that it possesses many advantages over the old fogy way. Every thing else is being improved in these progressive times and why should there not be changes for the better in a matter of as much importance as this? Of course there will be opposition to the new style, but there is no doubt that its universal adoption in fashionable society is only a question of time.

The women have organized a woman's rights party in Kentucky and will make things lively with the Republicans, Greenbackers and Prohibitionists as to who shall have the second place in state politics.

THE NASHVILLE AMERICAN.

At no time in the South's history has a well informed newspaper, based on a command of the facts of the situation for the collection and distribution of early intelligence, been more indispensable to southern households than now.

The efforts of the Managers of the American to maintain its standard as the best political, commercial and family newspaper in the southern states will be seen by the regularity and promptness of its issue, and by the many improvements and enlargements. For the past 14 years its expenditures have not been less than one hundred thousand dollars annually, to secure the best news from the most reliable sources. No other newspaper south of the Ohio River has expended as much for telegraphic service. It appears regularly every day throughout the year, including holidays, and is sent by mail to any address for one dollar a year, 75 cents for 6 months and 40 cents for 3 months. Daily 1 year $10.00; Six months 6.00; 3 months 3.00. Weekly 1 year $1.00. Address, THE AMERICAN, Nashville, Tenn.
